OBITUARY

J.H. HEINEMAN IS SUMMONED SUNDAY NIGHT

Prominent Builder and Architect, Former Member of the School Board, and a Life Long Member of St. Paul Church Dies.

Keokuk today is mourning the death of J.H. Heineman, whose long career as a builder and architect made him one of the most important and substantial citizens of the community. His death occurred at St. Joseph's hospital last night at 10:45 o'clock following an extended period of ill health.

He was taken to the hospital a week ago today after having been in failing health for the last five or six months. He was 69 years old.

With Carter Co.

A life-long resident of Keokuk, Mr. Heineman early entered upon the building and architectural career which he followed with such signal success for so many years, bringing to the business a mind of unusually high caliber and a character of unquestioned probity and rectitude.

For many years he was identified with the Carter Manufacturing Co., where he served as vice president and manager until the company was dissolved some years ago. Since that time he has been in business for himself.

Active in Church

Aside from his business and his deep devotion to his home and family, his chief interest lay in the St. Paul Evangelical church, of which he was one of the most prominent members. His intelligent, farseeing guidance was a vital factor in both the spiritual and secular activities of that organization.

A life-time member, he has served on the board of the church for the last 20 years, and as a trustee for the last fifteen. He was also a teacher of the men's Bible class for years, and was a member of the General Council of the synod of Evangelical churches of North America.

On School Board

It was largely due to his efforts as a direct result of his planning, advice and supervision, that the church building was remodeled three years ago.

Mr. Heineman was also closely identified with the public school system of Keokuk, and for several years was a member of the school board. During his long term on the board he was chairman of the building committee in charge of the constructing of the old Lincoln school which was destroyed by fire in 1934. And when the new building was erected to replace it, he served as superintendent for the architect and built much of the furniture as well.

The son of John and Elizabeth Paul Heineman, he was born in Keokuk on February 1, 1867 and spent all of his life in this city.

Funeral Wednesday

On October 23, 1890, he married Bertha Burger. Three children were born to this union, all of whom survive him.

Besides his wife he leaves three sons, Arthur J., and Wilhelm A. Heineman, both of Keokuk, and John Henry, Jr., of Elkhart, Ind., a brother Henry W. Heineman of Columbus, Nebr., and three grandchildren. His father preceded him in death on July 30, 1906, and his mother on November 13, 1906.

The funeral services will be held from the St. Paul Evangelical church at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The body will remain at the Pearson and Schmidt Funeral Home until Tuesday afternoon, when it will be removed to the residence, 1318 Timea street.

NOTES BY LAURA ANN SMITH

"I came to Albert Lea in May 1872. That year the winter was the coldest weather I have ever experienced. The thermometer registered 40 below zero, or more for two months - January & February. We had so much snow that it drifted. We had a large drift across our yard as high as the woodshed. The snow blew so hard I could not see the house across the street. It was so fine it looked like powder, and it came in the windows and the doors. When anyone came home from uptown they looked like they had been rolled in flour."

"We had our Ladies Aid at the homes. They didn't dress up much them days. Our summer dresses were made of Challie, Linnen, or Lawn. Our winter dresses were made of wool. Our church dresses were silk but we had only one or two. Mine was made so I could button my train. I had white rusching on the bottom of my train. There were lots of ladies who could take off their trains and then they would have short dresses."

"Slavery-Mistress kept sugar under lock and key. When baking, sugar measured out to Negro cook. Favorite Negro mammy was wet nurse for white children, her own child nursed after white child. Negro children considered sweet potato skins a real treat. Only slaves ate possum because of strong flavor and amount of fat. Aunt gathered slave girls in circle (also Laura) and they had to knit w/her. Would get cuffed on ears if they got sleepy."

"Remembered day of Emancipation Proclamation when slaves were set free. Some stayed with their masters. Others took what few belongings they had, tied them in a bandana on the end of a stick, and started down the road."

She came to Albert Lea as the bride of Lester V. Spicer in the spring of 1872 (married April 5 of that year in Fulton, MO). Lester Vandercook Spicer, born in Erie County, Ohio, March 10, 1837, was the oldest son of Isaac Gamble Spicer, of Fort Ann, N.Y. (a descendant of early Connecticut pioneers), and Cornelia Francis Vandercook, born at Pittstown, N.Y., of Dutch-Patruon ancestry. At an early age he went to Oregon, where he was engaged in mining and lumbering at Salem and Joseph. Returning to Ohio, he conducted a hardware store, and in 1865 moved with his mother and younger brother to Fulton, Mo. In 1870 he moved to Albert Lea.

Spicer Home

In 1872 Mr. Spicer entered a partnership with Dr. A.C. Wedge in the Corner Drug Store, which business he continued until his death. Having purchased 270 acres of wild timber land he converted it into one of the best stock farms in southern Minnesota and in doing so was one of the first to introduce blooded short-horn cattle in Freeborn County.

Mr. Spicer was killed November 29, 1884, in Albert Lea, Minnesota, at 47 years of age by one of his blooded bulls. He was the father of five children: Irene, Cora Francis, Emma Vandercook, Lester Wedge, and John Lovely.

Laura Ann Smith and Lester Vandercook Spicer had the following children:

  - a. Jacquelyn Betty Cunningham was born June 29, 1926
- iv. Bertran Bart-Perry Ross was born in Pasadena, California March 17, 1907. He married Helen Elizabeth Koenig April 4, 1937.
  - a. Roderick Dale Ross was born December 24, 1940
  - b. Marilyn Gayle Ross was born September 12, 1946

Letter from Roland Ross dated December 7, 1969:

"...it was not a Mineral King where my Uncles mined for gold but at Bodfish on the lower Kern River. This is about 60 miles up the Kern River from Bakersfield where the country widened to form a valley about 10 miles long and 4 miles wide. Here we had a cabin but the miners were located about 7 miles above the valley in the higher mountains and reached by foot-trail only. Here Mother & Dad and we children spent several summers and a couple winters helping my Uncles in the mines. Later on when our family moved to Exeter I spent more summers up there."

The cabin at the mines provided a wonderful view of the valley and surrounding mountains and I have several sketches Mother made from there. That cabin still provides fond memories – the kitchen was large enough for a twenty foot table and it was generally full, but I slept out under the pine trees with my Uncles – and still remember the night noises that sometimes seemed so close.

Kernville was a small town at the upper end of the valley and it was pretty rough and tough in those days. My Uncles told many fearful tales of the shootings and feuds in the area.

I went to school for a couple terms at Bodfish – a real old time, one room affair – quite primitive by today's standards.

In recent years they have built a dam across the river at the lower end of the valley creating a very large lake and they had to move the little town of Kernville further up the river. Bodfish still survives and I hope to look the place over again before too long.

After Murriel and I were married and the rest of my family were pretty much on their own I bought a resort business in Mineral King – about 50 miles into the high Sierra Mts. east of Exeter and actually only about 20 miles from the upper Kern River. Here we had the only private land – surrounded by Forest Service and Natl. Park lands – at the head of the Kaweah River – elevation 8,000 ft. We operated the summer post office, but Murriel took care of that – not Mother – and had several cabins to rent out, plus tent houses, and a dining room. I, and my men, packed hunters, fishermen, and "tourists" into the "back" country – including the headwaters of the Kern and other rivers. At the peak of business I was working over 100 head of horses and mules. Mostly we had wonderful people to deal with – some very prominent persons. My brother worked for me there most of the time; Mother and sisters visited when possible. When Marjorie Spicer visited in Calif. I took her up there for a few days.

After about 6 years of interesting, but real hard work we decided we had had enough and sold out to Murriels cousin (Ray Buckman) and he operated as we had for a few years and then sold out to Walt Disney – for what sum I don't know but I'm sure he made a good thing of it.

The area was unspoiled when we were there – a rough, steep, dirt mountain road and limited accommodations tender to keep out all but the really dedicated mountain lovers. If the Disney Corp. succeeds in modernizing the area it will be overrun with people. I'm not sure that I ever want to go back.

We didn't live in Mineral King in the winter – snow was too deep – but I would make trips by snow shoe or skis to clear snow from cabins; sometimes six or eight feet deep. Most every winter we lost from one to several cabins due to avalanches and Disney may have some trouble in this respect.

Well, I've rambled on – perhaps too much – but I feel as you do that some of the history of our families should be preserved. I really think future generations will be interested – for contrast, if nothing more. You know Murriel and I had continued interesting experiences operating one of the largest and most isolated cattle ranches in Eastern Oregon – but that is another story..."

- 3. Lester Wedge Spicer was born in Albert Lea, Minnesota October 20, 1876. He married Elizabeth Newberry Beebe (1878-1957) March 15, 1909. Lester died December 5, 1961.

By 1899, he was a partner in the Barlow and Spicer Drug Store at the corner of South Broadway Avenue and West Clark Street.

From South America
April 16, 1949*

Miss Margery Spicer returned home yesterday from South America, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Spicer Park Ave. who met her in New Orleans. Miss Spicer has spent since February 1, visiting by means of rail, boat and airplane, the principle cities of Brazil, among them Bahia, Pernambuco, Sao Paulo and Petropolis. While in Rio De Janerio, she was the guest of Major and Mrs. L. D. Flory. Miss Spicer regretted that she was unable to stay for a longer time, but the steamship line could promise no more sailings for several months. She very much enjoyed her visit there, finding the scenery and atmosphere very different from that seen on her trips to Europe.

Wedding Bells

One of the prettiest home weddings ever solemnized in this city took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jensen yesterday afternoon when their daughter, Miss Emma V. Spicer, was married to Alfred E. Au of La Crosse, Wis.

The parlors were elaborately decorated with smilax, palms, pepper foliage with berries, potted plants and carnations and presented a beautiful appearance. The guests had been bidden to arrive at 4 and when that time arrived nearly all were present and waited expectantly. A few minutes past 4 the piano in the west parlor pealed out the wedding march, Miss Myrtie Jorgensen presiding at the instrument, and it was a signal for silence. Almost immediately Rev. H. D. Chambers, rector of Christ Episcopal church, who was to officiate, appeared in the east parlor, gowned in the priestly robes of his office, and he was followed by Miss Bertha Farrington leaning upon the arm of Prof. Lester. W. Spicer, brother of the bride, Miss Nellie Crandall and Dr. Albertson of Austin, and they took their places at a proper distance from the clergyman, then appeared little Miss Lucille Marguerite Jensen, sister of the bride, carrying the ring upon a tray, and then the cynosure of all eyes, the bride and groom, arrived. They at once took their places inside a ribbon-enclosed space under a festoon of smilax and carnations, and the beautiful marriage service of the Episcopal church was begun. The minister's voice was clear and so was that of the bride and groom, very little nervousness being shown by either. The ceremony is as brief as it is pleasing and after it was over there was a season of congratulations and all the guests paid their respects to the husband and wife.

The bride was charming in a gown of shining white taffeta silk, entrain, trimmed with pearls, and she carried a bunch of roses and real orange blossoms.

Miss Farrington wore a green taffeta silk gown under mousseline de soie, and she carried a bouquet of roses.

Miss Crandall was brilliant in a pink organdi gown, trimmed with mousseline de soi and also carried a bunch of roses.

The groom and his two attendants wore the regulation black suits and all look exceedingly well dressed.

There were a goodly number of presents and they were costly and appropriate. They were greatly admired by the guests.

After the congratulations were partially over refreshments were begun and an elaborate luncheon was served to all the guests, the number passing the one hundred mark. The menu was all that could have been desired and was daintily served by the ladies.

The bride has lived all her life in this city and has been one of the most popular young ladies in the place, witty and humorous yet always thoughtful of the feeling of others. She will be sadly missed by a host of warm friends and admirers.

The groom is one of Uncle Sam's railway mail clerks and is a resident of La Crosse but has a large circle of friends in Austin. He is a young man that all can admire and predict he will make an excellent husband for the bride he has won.

The young couple left last night for the east and will take up their residence in La Crosse for the present and the best wishes of the people of this entire city go with them. The TRIBUNE bestows its choicest blessing upon the newly wedded pair and hope their lives will be cast in the pleasantest of places.

Among the guests from outside the city were misses Hormel, Corneveaux, Brown and Miller and Messrs West and Albertson of Austin.

Jensen Home in Denmark

Peter and his brothers received their early education in Denmark. His father was a weaver of linen tablecloths. The story goes that he died of cancer of the stomach believed to have been caused when the loom hit him in the stomach.

The family immigrated to the United States on, May, 1868, destination Detroit, MI when Peter was 11. They came on a sailing ship-a grain vessel. It took them 47 days to cross the Atlantic. They settled in Pilot Grove township, Faribault county, Minnesota, and lived on a farm twenty-one years. For a while they lived in a sod house as so many immigrants did.

After attending the country schools of Pilot Grove in winters, and working on farms in the summer, he studied in winter in Winnebago City, and in 1874 went to Albert Lea, where he entered the employ of Wedge & Spicer in their drug store. In 1884 he purchased Dr. Wedge's interest, and the firm became Spicer & Jensen. After Mr. Spicer's death, Dr. A.C. Wedge again came into the firm, and Frank A. Barlow also joined the partnership, the company being conducted as Wedge, Jensen & Co. Two years later Mr. Jensen sold out to Wedge & Barlow and started in the drug business in his own building.

In 1900 he sold out and retired. He owned three stores on West Clark street, in Albert Lea and spent his time looking after his various real estate and other holdings. ## OBITUARY

Mrs. Peter C. Jensen died Jan. 29, 1934, at her home at 224 Water Street, and was laid to rest in the family lot in Graceland Cemetery following services at the Presbyterian Church conducted by Dr. R.L. King.

She was born Laura Ann Smith at Cambridge (Saline County), Mo. on Feb. 22, 1852. Her parents were both Virginians; the father, James H. Smith, was a veteran of the Florida Seminole Indian war and a California 49er and gold adventurer. The mother was Elizabeth Marshal Duggins, whose parents were early Missouri settlers and were connected with the La Platte Purchase.

Her parents moved to Fulton, Mo., when she was a child, but she was sent back to Cambridge where she was educated at the Cambridge seminary.

She came to Albert Lea as the bride of Lester V. Spicer in the spring of 1872 (married April 5 of that year). Mr. Spicer, a native of Ohio, was then living in Albert Lea. He had purchased a home for his bride, where she had lived ever since.

Mr. Spicer was killed in 1884 on his stock farm just north of the city, leaving her a widow with five children: Irene E., deceased; Cora F. (Mrs. Bert Ross of Glendale Cal.); Lester W. of this city, Emma V. (Mrs. Alfred Au of La Cross, Wis), and John L. Spicer of Los Angeles, Cal.

She was married Nov. 19, 1889, to Peter C. Jensen of Albert Lea, who survives her. To this union were born: Catherine June of this city and Lucile (now Mrs. William A. Heineman) of Keokuk, Iowa). Besides her six living children she had nine grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Mrs. Jensen also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Robert Lamar of Fulton, Mo., and Mrs. James Bailey of Sacramento, Cal, and one brother, George D. Smith of Faribault, Minn.

Mrs. Jensen had been a member of the local Presbyterian Church for sixty-two years and a member of the Aid Society and Foreign Missions for a number of years. She was a charter member and one time president of the City Relief, and also a charter member of the local D.A.R. She was the next to last survivor of a group of old friends christened the Friendship Circle.

Mrs. Jensen had a store of anecdotes of her girlhood as a near witness to Civil War days and slavery, and also many incidents relative to early Albert Lea pioneer days.

Mrs. Jensen had been in good health enjoying her home and church until the day after Christmas when she was stricken.

From News Paper Article She'll Be Missed

Catherine Claybourn, one of Albert Lea's most colorful citizens left last week to make her home near her sister in Council Bluffs, Iowa and Albert Lea is undoubtedly diminished by her departure.

Mrs. Claybourn who will be 82 years old June 27, has always been a woman of enthusiasm, conviction, and bewildering assortment of interests ranging from button collecting to politics.

Active in the Methodist Church and the Daughters of the American Revolution, she was a member of the Halcyon Chapter of the Eastern Star, a firm supporter of the Audubon Society, the unofficial conscious of the City Council, and in short, is "a citizen at large."

Her collecting took her far afield to button-collectors' conventions in remote spots and to the very steps of the White House. As for example the time in the early 60's when she set off for Washington, D.C. carrying three large prints, two of which of them were accepted by the National DAR and one of Lincoln, now by the Smithsonian Institute.

Born on the Spicer farm across from what is now the Fairgrounds, June 27, Mrs. Claybourn was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Jensen. Her father was a long-time druggist in Albert Lea. Her mother at the time of her marriage to Mr. Jensen had been the widow of L. V. Spicer and was the mother of five Spicer children.

Catherine's father had come to this country on March 11, 1857, when he was 11 years old, with his parents and two brothers, Jim and Dr. Paul C. Jensen.

His parents settled with their family in Pilot Grove Township and in 1874, he was apprenticed to the Wedge-Spicer Drug Store where he served for 26 years until he finally had his own drug store. He was a registered druggist.

Catherine's mother came from Fulton Mo. She was born Feb. 22, 1852, and was able to remember Civil War days and slavery. Because of her stories and songs, perhaps, Catherine developed an interest in the past. Her collection of hats from bygone years is legendary. She was an enthusiastic contributor to the Freeborn County Historical Museum and the millery shop that bears witness to her interest.

It is paradoxical that though her politics tend toward the conservative, she herself was well in advance of her times.

Way back in the days when women were expected to be domestic and interested in domestic pursuits, she majored in manual training. After getting her Bachelor of Arts degree from Iowa State Teacher's College, Cedar Falls, Iowa, taught hundreds of grubby little boys the art of knocking together pieces of furniture.

Her teaching days had their drawbacks, she said. She roomed in a farm house, freezing in an unheated room and trapping whole armies of mice in her clothes closet.

She had always wanted to be a nurse, though her parents had opposed it. She finally completed nursing training at St. Francis Hospital in Keokuk, Iowa, and General Hospital in San Francisco, Calif.

She was married to Harry Claybourn, Dec. 25, 1935, and continued after his death to live at the house he had built for them on Bridge Avenue.

The years saw her taking an interest in the organizations to which she belonged, her ever-growing collections and even some new projects like puppet making. Every project in which she engaged she approached with complete and dedicated interest.

Civic affairs probably claimed her greatest efforts. It was not uncommon for her to make the rounds of business places seeking support for something of which she approved or challenging her friend to join with her in opposition to something she considered harmful.

She was an enthusiastic supporter for candidates she felt furthered the causes to which she subscribed. But when one of her candidates failed her, as she believed, she took the most political method she could think of for setting him straight, she filed for office herself.

Despite a slightly failing health, she spared no pains to make her convictions known. It was a gallant effort and it was not without its price. Her physician advised against her continuing to live alone.

Her decision to leave Albert Lea took her many friends by surprise. Women from her church and friends from the DAR hastily pulled together an open house in her honor last week but the timing was bad. Many of us who would like to have been present to wish her joy in her new home were out of Albert Lea altogether.

As one of her friends put it, for a woman like Catherine friends are flying flags. Another one said "She more than represented Albert Lea. In some strange way she was Albert Lea."

Even one of her detractors got in on the act. "She may have sometimes acted like an old bat," he said, "But she was always a lovable old bat."

Summed up, the feelings are, "There's only one Catherine Claybourn and long may she flourish. There's always a welcome mat out for her in Albert Lea."
